

A Letter from MedVirginia's CEO

April 1, 2006

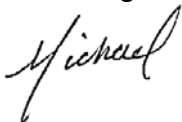

To the Sponsors and Users of MedVirginia's Solution:

What a great start to 2006! As the first quarter comes to a close I am pleased to report that MedVirginia's Health Information Exchange (HIE) is alive and well. Over one million clinical messages flowed through the system in the month of March alone, and we now have 307,000 unique patients in our database. Interest in MedVirginia's Solution HIE service is very high within the physician community. In fact, there is an impressive roster of practices across virtually all specialties that are either online or about to become so.

All of the stakeholders in Central Virginia's health care delivery system owe you, the early adopters and supporters of this industry-shaping technology, a big "thank you". The successful launch of Central Virginia's RHIO wouldn't have occurred without your cooperation and valuable feedback.

And on behalf of all of us at MedVirginia, thank you for helping to make Central Virginia among the most electronically connected communities in the U.S.

Kindest regards,

Michael Matthews
CEO
